Indian handicrafts showcase the rich heritage and authentic culture of our nation.
The Indian Spirit's mission is to bring Indians close to their culture & World to appreciate the many wonders of these crafts.

About The Indian Spirit

The Indian Spirit is dedicated to connecting India's artisanal traditions with the global marketplace to create a new design paradigm that drives innovation, spurs creativity, and empowers communities.

By supporting them by promoting them to the urban population, we usher in an era of art appreciation and economic prosperity for the rural workforce.

The Indian Spirit believes in sustainability, circular economy, human dignity, empowering local communities and supporting livelihoods.

From traditional board games to bell metal dinnerware, from pottery to bamboo architecture and breathing hands-on textiles to wood art, all arts and crafts under the sun are the range the Indian Spirit showcases.

Rooted in ages of tradition, culture and aesthetic utility, our rural artisan community produce artefacts and utilities which make us spellbound.

WELLNESS ACCESSORIES

The Kansa Massage Wand and Kansa Vatki are a traditional and authentic wellness massaging accessory that relaxes the face, legs, and feet while also purifying the toxins from the body. It is also known to induce soothing sleep.

In Ayurveda, the Kansa is valued for its ability to balance the three Doshas: Vata (Air), Pitta (Fire), and Kapha (Water) (Water). We can gain all of the benefits of this majestic metal by reviving this old age massaging technique.

KANSA MASSAGE WAND AND VATKI

Kansa Vatki and Kansa Wand are dome-shaped massage tools that have been used in Ayurveda for centuries. This Kansa wand is versatile; it features two Kansa vati; the larger side can massage the feet, while the smaller side can massage the face. Kansa Vatki's textured surface replenishes the overall energy flow of the body.
*The product comes with an instruction manual.

KANSA MASSAGE WAND AND GHEE

The Kansa Wand is a dome-shaped vati with a user-friendly wooden handle. This Kansa wand is versatile; it features two Kansa vati; the larger side is used for foot massage, while the smaller side can be used for facial enhancements. Kansa wand provides several benefits, including skin moisturization, stress-busting and relief from sleeplessness. Ghee should be used when massaging because it lowers friction and draws acidity away from the skin to normalise the pH level.

KANSA DINNER WARE

Kansa, popularly known as Bell metal, is a hard alloy. Though it is a form of bronze with a higher tin content, usually it comes with approximately a 4:1 ratio of copper to tin.

Dining in Kansa ware (including soup, breakfast and serving bowls) also helps improve immunity, thereby assisting in fighting emerging diseases. Celebrate festivals with a mantra of sustainability and empowering artisan livelihoods.

ABOUT KANSA & ITS PROCESS

Kansa is an alloy of tin and copper

The food stored in any Kansa utensil, promote holistic healing well-being

To make Kansa ware, copper and tin are heated in a furnace together to form bronze.

The molten metal is beaten manually into sheets.

The sheets are moulded into shapes & designs as required & then polished manually

The artisans devotedly practice the making process of Kansa, which makes the utensils one of a kind.

By presenting these Kansa products, we intend to preserve the tradition of this craft along with its benefits.

KANSA SERVING BOWL WITH SPOON

Perfect for serving meals, the Kansa serving bowl has excellent functionality and is crafted finely by local Indian artisans. Ayurveda recommends having all our three meals served from the Kansa Serving Bowl. Kansa is a good conductor of heat; thus, keeping your food warm over extended periods aiding efficient digestion.

PLEDGE FOR ATMANIRBHAR BHARAT

When every person will buy local products with pride, will talk about local products, hail them and will take the message to others that our local products are so good, this message will go far not only local identity will be strengthened, the people who make these local products, their Diwali will also brighten up more.

Going for local doesn't mean only purchasing 'diya' but everything you use in Diwali. It will encourage those making them.
